

Washington Notes and Comments

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff)

Professor Raymond Moley, friend and one-time close adviser of President Roosevelt, considered by many to be the man responsible for many of the radical policies of the present Administration, is editor and publisher of the magazine "TODAY." This magazine is owned by Vincent Astor, New York, multi-millionaire on whose paternal yacht the President of the United States spends many of his vacations in southern waters.

Writing editorially in the last edition of the magazine, Professor Moley caustically referred to the "furtive character of the negotiations" in the Canadian-United States trade treaty recently announced by the President as having been signed by him on the part of the United States, and called attention to the lack of wisdom displayed by the Administration in entering into these treaties, and giving to all nations with whom we have the most favored nations treaties the benefits of every reduction of tariff granted any nation with whom we negotiate such agreements. His editorial goes on to say:

"The furtive character of the negotiations for reciprocal treaties by the United States (of which the Canadian negotiations are the latest example) does not fit well with the liberal protestations of an Administration devoted to the masses of the people. Presumably, in a democratic Government, matters affecting great numbers of citizens should be considered and discussed openly."

"Not only was the Canadian treaty consummated without knowledge on the part of the people at large, but its details were kept secret even from persons high in the Administration for days after the treaty had been agreed upon. This secrecy is one of the most unhappy aspects of our reciprocal treaty policy as it is now being administered."

"The other deplorable aspect of our reciprocal treaty policy is that in carrying it out we refuse to depart from the unconditional most-favored-nation principle."

"Reciprocal treaties, if we adhere to the unconditional most-favored-nation principle, are not reciprocal treaties at all; they are general tariff reductions."

"So, conceivably, while we are standing at the open door of our inn warmly welcoming a paying guest, a horde of nondescript deadheads may be sliding in through the cellar doorway."

The farmers will be especially hard hit by the provisions of this treaty, which contains approximately 33 per cent reductions in duty on cattle weighing 700 pounds or more each, and on calves weighing less than 175 pounds each. The duty on dairy cows weighing 700 pounds or more each, on cream, fresh or sour, cheddar cheese, live poultry, chickens and guineas, dead, horses valued at not more than $150 per head, and various other American farm products, is reduced a third or more.

While the quantity of such products coming into this country from Canada under this treaty is limited, and while perhaps the importation of such amounts as are permitted under the treaty would not be serious if the imports were limited to Canada only, it must not be forgotten that every advantage we have given Canada is also given

Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament

GRAYLING, DECEMBER 7TH

Oyasa Boxing Association will present a fight card at the Grayling High School gymnasium on December 7th. The winners in the respective weights will go to Camp Custer to train for the 1936 Golden Gloves tournament. This boxing card is put on under the auspices of the A.A.U.

The fighters will be representatives of the following camps surrounding Grayling: Camp Au-Sable, Camp Higgins Lake, Camp Kalkaska, Camp Pioneer, Camp Hartwick Pines and Camp Houghton Lake.

With several camps entered in the tournament and a group of fighters from each camp there should be plenty of action and good matches.

Lieutenant Cropp of Camp Higgins Lake will have charge of the fighters who are representing the fourth sub-forestry district. Officers and Educational Advisers from the various camps are cooperating to the fullest extent to put on a good show and bring the best fighters to the front so they may represent their respective camps.

There will be an admission charge to help defray expenses.

to 38 other nations of the world, who give us nothing in return. Mr. Moley's conclusions that this reciprocal trade agreement policy should not masquerade under the name of "fair trade agreements" are certainly justified. He calls them just what they are, namely, general tariff reductions.

It must be conceded that the President of the United States is fully aware of our obligations under the most-favored-nations treaties and that he knows that every reduction in tariff he gives any particular nation must be given likewise to other nations with whom we have these treaties. In view of this fact, it must be conceded also that these reciprocal trade agreements are undertaken with full knowledge that they constitute a general reduction in our tariff rates on foreign products.

A continuation of this policy means of course that the standard of American living will eventually be substantially lowered because the American producer cannot continue to produce for the American market in competition with a flood of foreign imports without reducing the American cost of production, and this of course means reduced wages, reduced purchasing power for our people.

Another un-American characteristic of these treaties is their negotiation without consulting the directly interested parties. The farming and manufacturing industries affected most did not even know that vital changes in the customs duties between the two countries were being given official consideration until the President announced that he had signed such an instrument.

Notifying our farmers and industrialists after the treaty has been signed, sealed and delivered, amounts practically to pronouncing their death sentences without having given the victims an opportunity to be heard in their own defense.

Alumni Defeats G. H. S. 26-25

The bid was officially pried off the 1935-36 basketball season Friday night when the Alumni defeated the high school squad 26 to 25.

As a rule Alumni teams are expected to win over high schools. Therefore it was a moral victory for the green-clads that they came so close to whipping the Alumni.

Borners, sinking a free throw in the first quarter, has the honor of scoring the high school's first point of the season. Smock registered the first field goal. Although a snappy passing attack was introduced to the Alumni by Coach Cornell's charges, the score at the end of the first quarter was Alumni, 12; Northern Lights, 3.

The second quarter was remarkably different. The green and whites began to play offensive basketball and netted seven points while the opponents collected only two, to bring the score to 14-10 at the half.

Then the Alumni rallied and really began to play ball. They uncorked several passes that resembled a cannon ball in flight. A lot of fancy shooting was displayed by the grads, and led by Art May they raised their score to twenty-five. Meantime the high school warriors were largely on the defensive, getting a point now and then, bringing their total to eighteen.

In the last five seconds of play the high school unleashed a fast break that caught the Alumni completely off-guard, and amidst the excitement of the play, the referee's whistle calling for an out of bounds play was not heard and the winning point was made but did not count.

In a fast and interesting preliminary, the 2nd squad defeated an up and coming team of eight graders. If the second team plays all the games on their schedule as they played this game, they might surprise everyone.

Next Friday night Mr. Cornell takes the squad to Harbor Springs to play a tough quintet there and on the following Friday they play Alpena there. The next home game will be with Kalkaska on Friday, December 13.

N. Y. CELTICS AT SAGINAW, December 1ST

Play Saginaws Strong Triangles. Clinic Added Feature.

Professional basketball gets under motion here next Sunday night at the city Auditorium when the world champion New York Celtics come to town to take on the powerful Saginaw Triangles the strongest pro team ever to represent this city in the cage game. As an added feature the Celtics will stage a basketball clinic especially for the coaches and high school and independent team players in this section and will answer any question asked by coach or player after the game.

Last year the Celtics drew the largest crowd ever to witness a basketball game in this city. Its worth the admission price alone to watch the Celtics display their court wizardry that few would believe if they didn't see it with their own eyes. The 1936 Edition of the Celtics is better than ever and their repertoire of new plays which they will also show in slow motion during their clinic will be pleasing to watch. The Celtics will bring Lapchick, Dehnert, inventor of the pivot play, Barry, Banks, Hickey and Birch, the same team that has played together over a long stretch of years.

The Triangles will have Van Fassen and Herrick of last year's great Michigan State team. Bob Briggs, one of the outstanding forwards in the state, lanky Russ Knippel, the greatest cager ever turned out locally in addition to an array of former Triangle cage stars. The Triangles frankly state that they are out to beat the Celtics which has been done on few occasions but not very often. Manager H. J. Huebner is of the opinion that his team this year will be strongest in Michigan and to back his belief he booked the best team to open up with.

Popular prices will prevail for this outstanding attraction and reservations may be made by calling the Auditorium box office all day Saturday and Sunday, phone 2-3481. The preliminary is set for 7:30 p. m. while the clinic will start at 8:30 p. m. The Celtic-Triangle game is set for 9 p. m.

Legion Jottings

Last Thursday evening there was no Drum and Bugle Corps practice owing to several of the boys trying to get their deer and being too tired to come out, others had to entertain visitors.

Monday evening practice was resumed and although not every one was out, we had a good practice.

There will not be any Drum & Bugle Corp practice this Thursday on account of Thanksgiving.

Our Feather party last Saturday evening was well attended and we wish to thank all our friends who have attended our parties in the past.

There are two baritone bugles and one soprano bugle yet to be filled by ex-service men.

There will be a special meeting of the Drum & Bugle Corps Monday evening and all members of the corps are requested to be present as two very important trips are to be discussed at this meeting.

The 10th District meeting is to be held at Clare, Dec. 3rd at 4:30 p. m. Those who want to attend this important meeting can get details from Comrade Alfred Hanson, 10th Dist. Committee-man, or Post Commander John Erkes. More members should attend these important meetings.

Don't forget to leave your toys at Alfred Hanson's Service Station or at Hanson Hardware for the American Legion to repair and give out at Christmas time to some of the poor kiddies who might not otherwise be fortunate enough to receive any at Christmas time. Let's make them happy.

Mount of Temptation

Tibadabo, the height overlooking Barcelona, is the legendary Mount of Temptation. Another mountain nearby is Montserrat, Spain's holy place, where stands the castle of the Holy Grail.

A YOUNG PIONEER

When several hundred families were sent to Alaska from the Middle West to settle the Matanuska Valley, the Red Cross sent a nurse, Madeleine de Foras, to remain with them for a year to help protect their health. Among the first friends she made was the little pioneer, Arthur Haak, 4 years old, and "Prince," the pup who went with his young master to Alaska.

Millions Christmas Seals Mailed

Swelled by last-minute orders for an additional 4,500,000 tuberculosis Christmas seals, a grand total of 62,000,000 seals went out in the mails this week to homes all over Michigan. The twenty-ninth annual seal sale, opening Thanksgiving Day and continuing through to Christmas, will provide funds for Michigan's fight against the White Plague during 1936.

Officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and affiliated organizations throughout the state were optimistic as to the outcome of this year's sale. Requests for the added supplies of Christmas seals, they believed, were indicative of a substantial increase over the 1934 mark.

In Lansing this week, 12,000,000 of the total number of Christmas seals were mailed direct from the offices of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. After weeks of preparing the seals for the mail, the Association's staff of workers was standing by until Friday, when the opening and sorting of returns will commence.

Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Association, announced this week that ministers and clergy all over the state had been invited to participate in "Christmas Seal Sunday," December 1. On the evening of the same day a special Christmas seal program will be presented over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company, the time being 10:30 to 11 p. m. and the Michigan outlets stations WXYZ and WOOD.

On Thanksgiving Day, from 4:45 to 5 P. M., Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, will speak over the Michigan Radio Network. He will be preceded by two rapid-fire announcers who will attempt new records for presenting breath-taking highlights of man's fight against tuberculosis.

HOSPITAL STAFF DOCTORS HELD MEETING

Fifteen members of staff doctors of Grayling Mercy hospital recently held a meeting at the Hospital and elected officers. They are as follows:

Sister Mary Delphine, secretary.

Several hospital cases were discussed and opinions offered by several of the members. A topic for discussion at the next meeting was named, after which the medicos enjoyed a delicious dinner served by the Sisters of the hospital.

Much Forest Land Reverted

More than 12,000,000 acres of forest land in this country has reverted to public ownership through tax delinquency in recent years.

Montana Grayling Ready To Plant

Lansing, Nov. 27—Nearly 50,000 Montana grayling have been brought to fingerling size at Wolf Lake State fish hatchery near Kalamazoo for experimental planting in selected streams. They will be planted this fall.

A number of experimental plantings of Montana grayling have been made by the Department of Conservation during the past two years in an effort to re-establish the grayling species in the state. The Montana grayling and Michigan grayling, now almost extinct, are practically identical.

So far check-up work by Institute for Fisheries Research men have indicated that the Montana grayling will survive and grow when introduced into favorable streams, but continued study is to be made to ascertain whether the species will increase and propagate sufficiently to justify further propagation work.

APPRECIATION

We wish to thank all those who helped to make our recent Grange Harvest dinner a success, for the kind donations, the liberal patronage, and Alfred Hanson for his unsolicited advertising.

STERN REALITIES

Social security is an alluring term until the cost of such security begins to take hold. For a considerable time there has been much discussion of what the federal government is about to do for the states in aiding the states to bear the burden of unemployment insurance, old age assistance, support of mothers pensions and similar undertakings. Only recently has it soaked in that the states are going to pay a pretty penny for such aid.

During its dying days the late un-lamented congress passed an act providing for federal aid toward so-called social security. Now it is discovered that every employer of labor will be forced to pay tribute to the federal government to the amount of nine per cent of his total payroll. Two-thirds of this tax is to come direct from the industry and the remaining one-third is to be deducted from the wages earned by employees. In total this will amount to approximately $90,000,000 taken from Michigan employers and employees each year, $60,000,000 to be absorbed by industry direct and $30,000,000 to be taken from the pay envelopes of the workers.

Ninety million dollars is a lot of money. It amounts to more than the total amount of all taxes now collected by the state of Michigan including that which is sent back to the counties and school districts in various school and other aids. It is more than three times the amount of money collected by the state for its own general fund expenditures.

Again we learn that fine philosophy is one thing and stern realities quite another.—Verne Brown in Mason Co. News.

Webbs Get Into "Salt and Pepper"

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Webb stopped in St. Johns while on a recent trip to Indianapolis, and had a chat with Schuyler Marshall, editor of the St. Johns Republican-News. Mr. Marshall's comments in his "Salt and Pepper" column about the Webbs will be of interest to their Grayling friends. With the Webbs were Rev. and Mrs. Edgar Flory. The column says:

About 6:00 Monday evening we locked the office door and started for home, wondering what Mother would have for supper and anticipating an evening in an easy chair. Just at that moment an automobile stopped in front. A horn squawked and we thought "why in heck do they wait until everything is locked up?"

Someone in the back seat was calling us by name. In the front seat was a man and woman we never saw before—pleasant looking people. The driver snapped on the interior lights and there in the back seat was Mr. and Mrs. Ed Webb, formerly of St. Johns and now of Grayling.

Surely you remember Ed Webb. Thirty years ago he was in the retail meat business in St. Johns—down in the lower block about where Woodbury's flower store is now, if we remember rightly. More St. Johns people will, however, remember Mr. Webb as the possessor of a remarkably fine tenor voice and the frequent appearances he made with his daughter, Helen, who had an equally fine soprano voice.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb now make their home in Grayling with Helen, who is the wife of a leading physician there—Dr. Clarence G. Clippert. "What in the world are you doing in St. Johns this time in the evening?" we asked the Webbs. "We are on our way to Indianapolis to Lloyd's"—Lloyd is a son older than Helen. They then introduced ed the other couple the Grayling Methodist minister and his wife.

"I see, I see! You're eloping with that girl beside you and taking the minister right along with you," we kidded the former St. Johnsite. "Say, boy," Ed came back, "You are nearer right than you think. Tomorrow is our fiftieth wedding anniversary and we are going to Lloyd's to celebrate it." That was hard to believe for neither Mr. nor Mrs. Webb look a day over 60. They assured me, however, those were the facts.

"It will be fifty years ago tomorrow (Tuesday) that Mama and I went down to Ovid and were married. Her name was Ives before I changed it. I'm seventy-seven now. Don't seem possible. Don't feel it." Just then the minister companion interpolated. "You should have heard him sing Sunday in my church," Ed nodded confirmation and Mrs. Webb beamed at her bridegroom. At 77 Ed Webb is still getting much joy out of singing in public—rather a remarkable fact, we thought.

"Remember when you folks and Helen and I used to sing together in church?" Ed asked. We did. In fact we recall very well the first time when we heard Helen sing—a chubby little girl of six or seven with long dark curls and big eyes—and what a voice. It seemed almost uncanny that such a small child should have such a wide range of tone and so much volume. Her voice was like that of a healthy girl in her teens.

REYNOLDS WINS BROWN JUG

Local Lamp Sales Soar

Proving that the Better Light, Better Sight age is really here, the local office of the Michigan Public Service Company reports a greater number of lamps sold from October 14 to November 14 of this year than any previous years fall campaign. During the activity, 1368 mazda lamps were sold to local consumers. This total won the Gaylord-Grayling Brown Jug trophy, a special Westinghouse weekly prize and a large Thanksgiving turkey.

The local management wishes to thank all those who purchased lamps during this time and appreciates the cooperation extended particularly by the Hanson Hardware for their orders for without this cooperation, this record of sales could not have been realized.

FORD INVITES YOU TO TRY V-8 ECONOMY ON YOUR OWN FARM

IT STANDS to reason that your neighbor's opinion may not be your opinion. He may tell you his Ford V-8 Truck is the best truck he ever owned. But you may hesitate to rely on his opinion when you buy a truck.

Buying by hearsay is a slipshod method. The SURE way . . . the way that is least likely to bring regrets afterwards . . . is to make your own tests. When you have the opportunity of trying a truck right on your own farm, hauling your own loads, running over the same roads you would use if the truck belonged to you . . . you can get a much better idea of what to expect from that truck.

That's just what Ford wants you to do. If you will set a date for an "on-the-job" test, your Ford dealer will gladly place a 1936 Ford V-8 Truck or Commercial Car at your disposal. Try it out on your farm. Use it as you would your own. Keep track of its costs. See how quickly it gets you places . . . how its 80-horsepower V-8 engine enables you to pull out of tough spots with heavy loads.

Could any test be more fair? Is there any better way to find out just exactly what a Ford V-8 Truck or Commercial Car will do for you? Get in touch with your Ford dealer today and set a date for this test.

A large troupe of colored veterans from Camp Temple CCC entertained the members of Company 672 one evening last week. Thirty-four enrollees have now joined the recently organized club to train for boxing. A daily program of calisthenics, track work, punches and defense is given by the instructor, Lieut. S. H. Cropp. It is the club's ambition to have some entries at the Golden Gloves tournament in Grand Rapids this winter. Rudy Harrison has been named team captain and Carl Harris team manager.

L. B. Merritt, the educational adviser, addressed the Sunday afternoon forum at Camp Temple November 24th. These meetings are proving popular with the colored veterans.

Unemployment Insurance Funds

The major purpose of the Social Security act is to encourage the states to enact unemployment insurance laws by equalizing the competitive costs in different states as far as employer contributions are concerned, it was pointed out by Major Howard Starret, state director of the National Reemployment Service, in an interview today.

This is to be accomplished, Major Starret showed, by a payroll tax of one per cent upon employers of eight or more persons which will go into effect on January first in 1936. This payroll tax will be increased to two per cent in 1937 and to three per cent in 1938 and thereafter.

"This tax allows a credit up to ninety per cent for contributions paid into the state employment fund," Major Starret said. "Since the federal tax applies to all states, regardless of whether the state has enacted a state unemployment compensation law, Michigan should be one of the first to enact the necessary legislation to take full advantage of this allowable credit."

Major Starret pointed out that the federal measure does not, except for a few minimum standards, prescribe the type of unemployment compensation plan which states must adopt. It does, however, provide a uniform tax, thereby placing industry on the same basis throughout the country and removing the principal obstacle heretofore hindering the enactment of state unemployment compensation laws.

Six standards for allowance of credit against the Federal payroll tax upon employers were mentioned by Major Starret. An employer may credit up to 90 per cent of the federal tax the contributions he must pay to a state unemployment fund provided the state laws meets the following requirements:

1. Payments of unemployment compensation benefits must be made through the public employment offices or other agencies approved by the Social Security Board.
2. Payments of all compensation benefits may not commence until two years after contributions are first made under the law.
3. The state unemployment compensation fund must be deposited in a special unemployment trust fund of the United States Treasury.
4. The State fund must be used exclusively for the payment of unemployment compensation.
5. Eligible unemployed persons must not be denied unemployment compensation for refusing to accept employment, if their refusal is due to: (1) strike or lockout. (2) if the wages and conditions of work are less favorable to the employee than those prevailing for similar work in the locality. (3) if the employment would require the person to join a company union or would interfere with his joining membership in a bona fide labor organization.

6. The state law must provide that no vested rights are created thereby which would prevent modification or repeal of the state law.

"There are numerous reasons for the minimum standards set up by the government," Major Starret said. "Payment of unemployment benefits are to be made through recognized employment exchanges, for the reason that one of the essential conditions for receiving benefits is that the unemployed worker must register at the employment office and accept any suitable employment which is offered him. He remains eligible to receive benefits only while unemployed. For that reason it is necessary to build up a well-administered, non-political system of employment offices. In many sections of the country we already find state-federal employment offices serving their communities well. These will be the agencies who will, in the future, administer the law and provide a uniform nationwide employment service."

The requirement that the funds be deposited with the unemployment trust fund of the Federal Treasury is designed for two purposes, Major Starret pointed out. First, absolute security and assurance that the funds will be available when needed; and secondly, use of the funds to stabilize employment. The investment of unemployment funds is very important. If the investments were thrown on the market and liquidated at the start of a depression, when there is excessive demand upon the unemployment fund, the result would be to increase unemployment and hasten the depression. This is the essential reason for requiring the deposit of the funds with the Federal Treasury.

The National Reemployment Service is a branch of the Department of Labor. In Michigan, besides assigning relief people to work projects it is also finding employment in private industry for approximately 1,500 unemployed weekly. It has branch and itinerant offices in every county in the state.

DRIVE SAFELY

DON'T PASS ON CURVES OR ON A HILL WATCH TRAFFIC LIGHTS BE COURTEOUS

Human lives are more important than a few seconds of time

STATE OF MICHIGAN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

RULES ON LIGHTS AND EQUIPMENT

From the study of traffic accident reports it has long been known that nearly one-half of all accidents resulting in death and injury, both in city and country, occur after dark. And, a very great portion of these are directly attributable to faulty lights, one headlight, no tail light or lights too bright or too dim, or no lights at all.

The Michigan Safety and Traffic Directors' Association offers the following digest:

Equipment—Lights
Must be turned on one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise, and at such other times as is necessary to show a person on highway 200 feet ahead of car.

Must have two head lamps on opposite sides and in front of vehicle (except motorcycle, road roller, road machinery or farm tractor). Motorcycles shall have at least one.

Shall not project glaring rays higher than 42 inches 75 feet ahead of the automobile on level road.

When meeting may depress beam or substitute one or more driving lights at distance deemed reasonable and proper. Must show two lights at all times, one on each side of car (except as above).

A red light must be visible 500 feet and illuminate license plate with white light.

All trucks weighing over 2 tons and all tractors, trailers and busses (except in municipalities) shall have 3 green lights mounted over windshield in front and 3 at extreme rear, both front and rear to be mounted parallel to the axle and 6 inches apart.

Bicycles—White light in front and reflex red mirror behind. All other vehicles must carry a light or lantern showing white light in front and red light in rear visible 500 feet.

Spot lights, not more than two and no part of the beam shall be directed to the left of the center of the street or more than 100 feet ahead.

Auxiliary driving lights not more than 2 and not to be attached less than 20 inches from the ground.

Signal lamps must be plainly visible 100 feet in sunlight. Acetylene headlights permitted.

Parked Vehicles—Shall have at night a lamp showing white light at front and red at rear, visible distance of 200 feet.

CONSERVATION DEPT. TO AID 4-H CLUBS

Lansing, Nov. 27.—Conservation will become an integral part of the 4-H club program in Michigan this winter.

As a result of a meeting of 4-H club leaders held in East Lansing early this month, it is expected that hundreds of 4-H Clubs, representing every section of the state, will soon start planning conservation projects to be conducted during the winter months.

A committee consisting of club leaders and representatives of the Department of Conservation is now preparing a list of suggested projects. Among the projects being considered are: establishment of winter bird-feeding stations, game surveys, bird propagation, forest-fire prevention work, farm-game management, assisting in collecting deer tally, bird-tally and creel-census cards, etc.

Members of 4-H clubs are almost exclusively from rural areas of the state and, it is believed, can become of great influence in progressive conservation work. All field men of the Department of Conservation are being urged to assist the young men and women in every possible way.

SPEED OR SAFETY—WHICH?

We have come to the parting of the ways, seemingly, in our desire to "go places." The current agitation for safety is making us recognize that much too often death is the unseen and unbidden sharer of our travels. We must make a choice. Shall we rush and treble our chances of never arriving where we wish to go or not rush and make arrival practically certain? Which do we want the more, Safety or Speed?

The public demands fast transportation. The demand for speed, has predominated over the demand for safety. Air traffic has continued to grow and the speed of highway traffic has increased tremendously. However, the cost in human lives of this speed is startling. Press and public are becoming increasingly aware of this cost and are agitating to correct these conditions. This agitation should serve to make the public more conscious of and desirous of safety in travel, and the railroads should benefit from greater concern in this direction.

For the fact must not be lost sight of that the railway is by its very nature the safest form of inland transportation. The railway does not depend, as the motor vehicle does, upon fallible human alertness to keep the vehicle on the road and out of collision with other vehicles. The flanged wheel on the steel rail and modern signaling systems give the railways a fundamental safety superiority which it is difficult to see how motor transport can duplicate.

An increasing proportion of the public, it would appear, is going to demand safety in travel along with speed, comfort and convenience and reasonable price.

DEPT. OF STATE STATE NEWS BULLETIN

CAR OWNERS TRIP ON NEW U. S. RULE

Many automobile owners and drivers of the state are finding out that the United States post-office department is charging an additional fee to cash the money orders sent to Lansing for automobile license plates, or operators' licenses, if the orders are drawn on any postoffice but Lansing's.

Under a federal postal regulation enacted by Congress June 16, 1934, a graduated system of fees for cashing money orders other than offices of payment, was set up. The fees virtually double the cost of such money orders. The state must charge this fee back to the applicant for license plates or driver's license, denying the application until the added fee is sent. This involves letter writing, more postage, and, in some cases, injured feelings.

The regulation has become particularly noticeable in recent weeks because of two factors: the public agitation for traffic safety, which has impelled thousands to renew their operators' licenses, and improved business, which has spurred the sale of automobile license plates. Many scores of car owners and drivers have sought to save time by sending their applications direct to Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, with approval of local examining officers necessary, of course, in the case of operators' license applications. The obstacle is encountered, however, if the enclosed money order is made out, as many of them are, to the Secretary of State, payable in the home city of the applicant. This is especially true in cities having branch offices of the State Department.

The fee for a $1 order thus carelessly drawn, is six cents; the state has to spend three cents postage to collect it. The average automobile license plate costs $9.25; the fee in this instance is eleven cents. The state has no recourse, it having no fund from which these fees can be paid legally. Money orders for the Secretary of State should be made payable at Lansing only.

STATE SEEKS DATA ON AUTO CRASHES

Possibly the most powerful weapon the state of Michigan may ever possess in its war against unfit or dangerous drivers, is being built up in steel filing cabinets in the Department of State where a central violations file is being assembled. Reports have been requested from every prosecuting attorney in the state, of all convictions for violation of motor vehicle laws, and from every police department in Michigan of all automobile accidents reported to them which result in injury or death.

The ultimate goal of the plan is that the true and complete driving record of every person in the state, licensed to drive or not, shall be available on one card, against which applications for a driver's license can be checked. It is expected that this central violations bureau will be the means of eventually eliminating many dangerous drivers who might never get into serious criminal or civil suits as the result of their mishaps.

The Michigan State Police cooperate fully in building up this file. With complete cooperation of officials throughout the state, it is visualized that if a Detroit man, for example, is involved in a crash in Marquette, for instance, it would be only a matter of routine, a few days later, to enter this fact on his card. He would be confronted with his record when he applied for his driver's license. The Secretary of State may refuse to issue these licenses for cause.

Gov. Fitzgerald Endorses Christmas Seal Sale

No scourge that has laid its devastating hand upon mankind has exceeded the "white plague," tuberculosis, in destructiveness and desolation.

Countless homes have experienced the very depths of bereavement as one after another of its members have been swept away through the ravages of this destroyer. The financial loss to the nation, reflected in interrupted cultural and economic development, has been infinitely greater than the cost of all its wars.

For centuries considered unconquerable, modern science, made effective through the generous support of the people, has demonstrated this scourge can practically be eradicated. In our own State, in the last quarter century, the death rate from tuberculosis has been lowered by fifty per cent.

The splendid results that have thus far been attained in this vitally important field, have been largely owing to the aggressive and intelligently directed efforts of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, whose activities have been financed in an important degree through the sale of Christmas Seals. All that has been gained must be lost unless this work is carried steadily forward.

Therefore, in conformity to properly established custom, I, Frank D. Fitzgerald, Governor, hereby direct the attention of the people of the Commonwealth to the Annual Sale of Christmas Seals, and urge that each one patronize the same as generously as personal circumstances may permit.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the thirtieth year.

By—Frank D. Fitzgerald, Governor.

ABOVE is a facsimile of the proclamation issued by Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, endorsing the sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals in the State of Michigan. The sale is opened officially on Thanksgiving Day and continues through to Christmas. Fifty-eight million tuberculosis Christmas seals are being distributed in the state this year by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. The money raised in this way supports all activities of the Association.

SENATOR VANDENBERG ON U. S. PEACE PLANS

Ann Arbor, Nov. 14.—Broadening the American neutrality policy to "quarantine" war as well as this country is concerned and prevent the "deadly undercurrents of international trade and financial complications from leading the nation to take sides with or against any belligerent, as was the case in the World War, was urged by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, speaking to Michigan editors at the annual meeting of the University Press Club here.

Temporary neutrality legislation passed at the last session of Congress, and since emphasized by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull, has set the stage for a new American policy of war avoidance, said Senator Vandenberg.

"First, we do not propose to sell and ship American arms, ammunition and implements of war to ANY belligerent engaged in war. Thus, at a single stroke, we cut beneath all the fine-spun technocracy which too frequently has sought to give so-called 'neutrality' a marketing privilege in war's primary paraphernalia—always hurting the weaker belligerent, and always inviting hatreds which germinate subsequent disaster. At a single stroke, we aim our quarantine at war—our war—ourselves. Under existing legislation, this rule is mandatory.

"Second, we do not propose if we can help it, to involve the fate of 125,000,000 people in the vicissitudes of American globe-trotters who needlessly persist in travelling upon belligerent ships—thus mingling themselves with alien targets—and thus carrying not only themselves but their country into jeopardy. Under existing legislation, this rule is not mandatory, but the President's proclamation notifies these people that they thus travel at their own risk."

Permanent Law Should Go Further
"Logic and consistency" should carry the policy of this country further when permanent legislation is designed at the next session, declared the Senator, citing three proposed provisions.

"First, it is not enough merely to warn Americans that they travel on belligerent ships 'at their own risk.' They should be prohibited from any such travel at all—except when no other is available when seeking to leave war zones for home. It is impossible, in practice, for them to travel at their own risk. They cannot actually shed their citizenship. It is indefensible. The outraged emotions of their fellow citizens, in the event of major calamity, will not stop to assess the niceties of a presidential proclamation which warned them of their temporary expatriation. As a matter of fact, they are not expatriated. Nor should they be. But they SHOULD be told, by force of law, that they have no business needlessly risking their country's peace by needlessly risking their own necks.

"I like to think of the Stars and Stripes protecting every American citizen wherever he may be. But I like also to think it is equally sound and patriotic that no American citizen should carry his flag—and thus his country—into needless jeopardy. If the former is his right, the latter is his duty—and duties are appropriately defined by mandatory statutes.

"Second, All loans or credits to actual belligerents should be prohibited, because money is the most dangerous, the most powerful, and the most unneutral of all contrabands. This, it seems to me, is an axiom. But fortunately it is an academic axiom at the moment because the Johnson Act prohibits loans to defaulting nations at any time; and, unfortunately, practically all major powers are defaulters to us at present. We not only get into trouble with these foreign loans; in addition we do not get our money back. It is not only bad 'neutrality'; it is bad business. So far as I am concerned, we have had enough.

"Third, The final question, frankly less clear than the rest, involves general trade with a belligerent—trade other than direct 'arms, ammunition and implements of war.' My own views at the moment—subject to revision in the light of larger exploration of the matter—is that this remainder of trade with a belligerent might well be on a 'cash and carry' basis. In other words, it could proceed at the buyer's risk rather than our own. The whole purpose of the new formula must be to make neutrality mean what it pretends to say. The whole trend, as I see it, involves no surrender of sovereignty or honor! Only the surrender of equivocal privileges which are calculated actually to be anti-neutral in net results. I freely concede we may surrender very handsome war profits at the expense of others; but not profits at home or abroad, can compensate for the needless loss of a single American boy in a needless battle under alien skies. Indeed, this consideration strengthens the justification for that still larger movement, with which I am proud to be associated, which I judge the burdens and to take ALL profits out of war. This is no warrant of automatic peace, but is a long, long step away from the easy road to aggravated conflict."

There will be a bake sale at the Schjotz grocery Saturday afternoon, Nov. 30th, given by St. Mary's Altar Society.

Mrs. Edna Whipple was called to Lansing Monday night by the serious illness of her daughter, Jean, who is attending school there.

Miss Behnke of Mt. Clemens was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Clippert Monday, while here to speak before the Woman's Club.

We wish to thank the people for their patronage at the Hay Loft this season and to invite everyone to the closing dance of the season Saturday night.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Bond Friday, December 6th. Luncheon will be served from 12:30 to 1:30 p. m. Price 25c. All are invited.

Hugo Schrieber, of the Rainbow Club, is driving a fine new Pontiac Deluxe touring sedan, which he purchased from Schoonover's garage.

Kathleen Kraus cut her arm quite badly when she accidentally shoved it through the window of a glass door at her home Wednesday afternoon. It was necessary for the doctor to take five stitches to close the wound.

Frank Bond, of the High School faculty, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis club Wednesday. The subject was on the youth of today.

Mr. Bond has given a lot of study on that important matter and presented it in a very interesting manner. His talk will be published in full in our next week's edition. Another guest was Ben Wright, publicity director of the East Michigan Tourist association. The latter spoke briefly, offering many good suggestions on winter sports as related to Grayling.

In the electric lamp selling contest staged by the Michigan Public Service Co., Don Reynolds, manager of the local office, stood 3rd, among the 188 contestants. For his efforts he will receive a 12 pound turkey from the company, and a weekly favor from the Westinghouse Electric Company. He stood first in the Cheboygan district and will be the first proud possessor of the special brown jug trophy for defeating Gaylord. His name will be the first to be inscribed on the jug. Don is a fine credit to his company; is always looking after its interests and also is fine and courteous to the local patrons.

For some reason many people here steer shy of anything that resembles a lecture. But those who heard Dr. Sheets, superintendent of the Traverse City State hospital give his talk Friday night on mental twists of the mind and "inferiority complex" should consider themselves fortunate in having done so. The affair was held at Michelson Memorial church and sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club. His life work among patients who are mentally ill has given Dr. Sheets an opportunity to study cases that have a tendency to bring about mental troubles. While a fair number heard his talk, still we are planning to publish his address in nearly complete form next week for the benefit of those who did not hear him.

WHOOPING COUGH

Miss Ober, district health nurse says:

There is at least one case of whooping cough in town, and several children have suspicious sounding coughs. There are many cases in Houghton Lake and it is widespread in Roscommon. Whooping cough is one of the dread diseases of childhood. It is the second cause of death in children under two years of age, and many cases of defective eyesight and heart trouble are thought to be caused by it.

There are many new babies in Grayling, let's cooperate in keeping whooping cough from spreading over the town. Watch your children for colds and if they have any signs of one keep them at home and do not let them play with other children having colds.

When visiting in the area where whooping cough is raging, leave your children at home.

Above all should your child contract whooping cough or any cough at all keep them in their own yard. It is a state law that any child with whooping cough must stay in his own yard for three weeks. Remember the mothers with tiny babies and be considerate.

Our Christmas card samples are now on display and we invite you to drop in and look them over—The Avalanche.

Books Wanted—Anyone having books of fiction that they no longer need, the young men at Hartwick Pines CCC Camp will appreciate receiving them. Phone 9F13 and someone will call for them.

The Junior class sponsored the first "Pop" meeting of this year, with a very amusing and unusual program.

The recently organized Cheer Leader's club made a peppy appearance. Their members are: Blanche Wheeler, Rose Newell, Monica Hewitt, Frances Kinsinger, Naomi Wheeler, Jennie Peterson, and Norma Griffith.

After a few words from Miss Peeke, Junior Class advisor, a short and humorous program was given by the Juniors, and the cheer leaders.

Mr. Cornell, basketball coach, said a few words and then presented the first squad members to the audience.

Then, after a few yells everyone, led by the cheer leaders, snatched from the assembly room down into the gym where we had a few more yells and songs.

Subscription Campaign Ends

The Navy, headed by Max Ferguson, was the winner of the Juniors' subscription campaign, over the Army, led by Evelyn Skingley.

The Navy sold 15 subscriptions while the Army totaled 8.

The losing team will treat the winning team to a party, sometime after Thanksgiving vacation.

Juniors Working On Play

The Juniors are very busy working on their class play, "Meet Uncle Sally," which will be given Dec. 17, at 8:00 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Don't forget that this play is a 3-act comedy, full of jokes which will send the audience into spasms of laughter.

You'll never regret that you saw this play but you will regret if you miss it.

Get your ticket now, also reserved seats which may be secured at Olsen's Drug store. Admission: children 10c; adults 25c.

Lab Tabs

Again term examinations are over and the laboratory is back on schedule. Students who had missed school were given the opportunity of making up back work and most everyone is starting on the last leg of the first semester with a clean slate.

The new term finds the Physics classes studying and experimenting with forces and how they act together. When a body is forced in motion not all the force exerted is used in pushing or pulling that body on a straight line. To discover what happens to the "lost" energy is the aim of the classes.

The Relationships and Interrelationships of living things is the next topic for the Biology classes. Starting with the lowest types of plants and animals and following up the ladder to the highest types, a careful study will be made of the groups that make up the phylum of the world.

Science finds the boys studying methods of ventilation, the reason for it and the effects of good and bad use of it.

Boy Scout Doings

Due to term examinations the regular meeting night was missed last week.

In the near future a Court of Honor will be held. This court is held for the purpose of presenting scouts, who have advanced from one class to another, with their respective badges. There are about ten scouts ready for this occasion and they are looking forward to it with much anticipation.

Mrs. Earl Keely, of Flint, who was visiting her mother, Mrs. A. J. Bennett, was guest of honor at a birthday party at Mrs. Bennett's Friday evening. About twelve ladies were present, and following an enjoyable evening, a nice lunch was served. Everyone reports a very nice evening.

Honoring Mrs. Neal McDaniel a group of ladies met at her home Tuesday afternoon to help celebrate her birthday anniversary. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. George Plant, Mrs. Ben Pankow, Mrs. Neal McDaniel, and Mrs. Axel Larsen. Pot luck lunch was enjoyed and many lovely gifts were given to the guest of honor.

DIVIDENDS FROM ICE CONTROL

Public concern for the reduction of traffic casualties demands the use of effective ice control measures whenever glazed streets and highways imperil the safety of motorists. Although such treatment involves a small expenditure of highway funds, probably no other phase of winter highway maintenance pays bigger returns to the public.

Applying treated sand or cinders to supply a tractive surface at dangerous hills, curves and intersections is the method of control recommended by the Highway Research Board. The grits are treated by mixing in a melting agent, usually calcium chloride, which thaws the ice just enough to embed firmly the fine particles of grit. The abrasives are thus anchored where they are needed, instead of being whisked away by wind or the suction of traffic, providing a skidproof surface.

Many highway engineers estimate that the cost of such treatment is more than returned through the sustained gas tax revenues which accrue from the practically normal flow of traffic made possible by adequate treatment. More important to the public, however, are the other benefits received. Untreated, slippery highways are costly in terms of human lives, disabling injuries, and damaged and wrecked automobiles. Added to these are the less frequently considered but equally costly losses represented by the impairment of vital services, delayed shipments, and interference with trade. Such losses are not easily computed in dollars and cents, but are none the less real and tangible. And when the small treatment is compared to this enormous toll, ice control measures appear as a good investment paying immediate and large dividends.

More Economy Plan Of Auto Makers

Automobile engines will continue to improve in efficiency year after year, but future gains will be utilized to increase economy, rather than to add to the horsepower and speed of cars, according to James M. Crawford, chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"From the early days of the automobile," said Mr. Crawford in a recent address at Detroit, "the demand has been for more power per pound of car weight. As the industry progressed, we learned how to get more power out of an engine of given size, and how to reduce car weight too, until today it is a simple matter to give a car all the acceleration and all the road speed that can be desired."

"From now on, engineering for economy will gain in importance. As the efficiency of engines increases, we can reduce their size without reducing power, thus bettering the ratio of power to weight. As fuels improve, we will use less gasoline to develop any given horsepower."

"Of course, every automotive engineer constantly seeks to improve economy of operation. That is, he has for his constant goal the achievement of maximum efficiency—and efficiency, after all, means economy."

"Until very recently, automotive engineers sought increases of efficiency chiefly as a means of getting more power and more speed. The greatest advances were made with the coming of better fuel—gasoline that burns readily and completely, and without knocking. It was these new fuels that brought about the modern high-compression ratios of their engines. That gave more power—and faster cars."

"Chevrolet engineers sought and obtained efficiency by still other methods—notably by the development of the 'blue flame' principle of combustion chamber design. The result was worth while, for we obtained increased power, with perfect smoothness, at no increase in fuel consumption."

"In our 1935 engines, our compression ratio was 5.6 to 1, and maximum horsepower was 80. In the 1936 models, the compression is higher—6 to 1—but the horsepower is no greater than before. We raised the compression for economy only. That is, instead of utilizing the gain to step up the power, we purposely held the power as it was before, and cut down the fuel required to produce that power. The result of this process, which we call 'internal governing,' is a 6 per cent saving in gasoline."

"We could afford to do this because we no longer needed additional power. For several years we have purposely limited the horsepower of our several models because we believe that increased durability, longer life, and especially safety on the road, are more important than the ability to go a few miles an hour faster on those very infrequent occasions when it is possible to drive wide open for any considerable distance. In other words, the gain in top speed is not worth while. For example, if you could drive a car at 85 m.p.h. continuously for one hour, you would then be less than four minutes ahead of a car traveling at 80 m.p.h. Since, in any 85-mile trip, you likely could not drive at full speed for even half the time, while the slower car could travel just as fast as you could, that extra 5 m.p.h. would save you very few seconds on the whole trip."

"The question with us was, which does the average motorist prefer to save—a few minutes in an all-day drive, or one-sixteenth of his gasoline costs? We decided that the majority of motorists don't want to travel over the highways at full speed, but do want to travel economically."

FREDERIC NEWS

Guests at Horseshoe Lake over the first week of the hunting season were: Dr. Gribbe and Alvin Krause of Carson City; Stanley Giegel, of Midland; George Albaugh, Chicago; Ralph Riegel and Doyle Riegel, Lansing; Al Trout, Elmer Trout, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Albough, Edmore; Hugh Williamson and Robert Marshall, Detroit.

Callers at Horseshoe Lake were: Floyd McKillard, of Artnada; (Canthook) Bill Hurley, Mr. Lederer, (father of Dottie who sings with the Michigan Mountaineers over WJR), and Bill Hurley and family, of Detroit; M. G. Fitch, Bay City; Ollie Smith and son John, Flint; Frank VanVleck, Leon Burns, Ionia; Wm. Rogers, St. Clair Shores.

Alvin Krause reports that he enjoyed getting his fox "on the run" more than his deer.

Darrell Manier was lucky in getting his buck the day before he returned to Detroit.

Forrest Albaugh reports getting a seven point buck. Lt. Cropp of Camp Higgins Lake, purchased a 1936 Buick coupe from the Ben Gocha garage in Gaylord.

THANK YOU, AMERICA,

for more than a Million cars in 1935

This year Chevrolet has two very good reasons for saying, "Thank you, America."

One reason is that people have bought so many Chevrolet cars that production for the year will reach 1,040,000.

And the other reason is that they have placed a record number of orders for new 1936 Chevrolets during the first few weeks they have been on display.

Chevrolet is indeed happy to say, "Thank you, America," and to pledge continued adherence to the manufacturing and service policies which have won and held this friendship.

The Club met at the home of Mrs. Clippert. The music committee presented a program of Indian music with Mrs. Hoelsi and Mrs. Milnes each rendering solos. Miss Behnke of Mt. Clemens, personal representative of Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, gave a very interesting talk on Temperance, telling of temperance education and plans for beerless beer gardens throughout the state.

FREDERIC SCHOOL

Last Friday night after winning the basketball games played with the boys from Atlanta, the boys, accompanied by Mr. Lewis and Mr. Beach went to Mr. Lewis' house at Johannesburg to spend the week end hunting. They arrived there about 2:00 o'clock. Everyone seemed to be in a very playful mood, and no one got much sleep the first night. Most of the boys and Mr. Beach went hunting Saturday with a limited amount of game. Sunday forenoon was spent hunting. Mrs. Lewis and daughter Gene and Elaine Larson were dinner guests. In the afternoon the hunters went out again to give the rabbits a little more track work. About 6:00 o'clock Sunday night the party was broken up and the group came back home. And now they are looking forward to another trip with Mr. Lewis and Mr. Beach.

The cake walk and box social sponsored by the Athletic Association was fairly well attended and the receipts are to be used for carrying on the work of the association. The association wishes to extend many thanks to friends who contributed the cakes.

We are having our examinations and by the time this is in print we shall all know our marks for the second six weeks of school.

Fighting Fire With "Airfoam"

THIS is a scene at Feltham, England, during a demonstration of the "airfoam" apparatus which extinguishes fires in quick time with a smothering action. A mixture of 90 per cent air, 9.8 per cent water and 0.2 per cent soap produces a foam seven times lighter than water, which excludes air from the seat of combustion and can be pumped to great heights.
